

Transparency in the Police Department

Written by:ljones 2/26/2009
3:39:00 PM

The Salt Lake City Police Department has been peeling back the layers, especially when it comes to what can be viewed, requested and reported online. The public can still come to the Public Safety Building...

The Salt Lake City Police Department has been peeling back the layers, especially when it comes to what can be viewed, requested and reported online. The public can still come to the Public Safety Building, 315 E. 200 S., or Pioneer Precinct, 1040 W. 700 S., but more and more the Department is using the Internet to come to you.

Visit our Web site, www.slcpd.com, to:

- Help us catch the bad guys on our Most Wanted page
- View Daily Watch Command Logs
- See what Crime Statistics are like in your neighborhood
- Read the latest press releases from the Department
- Check out our Photo and Video galleries, including the Chief's Message
- Download more than a dozen Safety Brochures for you or your civic group
- Provide confidential information about crime, including suspected drug houses
- Become a "friend" on SLCPD's MySpace page
- Request a report under the Government Records Access and Management Act (GRAMA)
- Volunteer with Mobile Neighborhood Watch
- Volunteer to help kids find Safe Passage to and from school
- Request a station tour or a visit from a police representative
- Learn what is suspected drug activity and how to keep a daily drug diary
- If you'd like an inside look at police work, consider applying for the Citizens' Academy
- Join our team, in sworn and non-sworn positions

Let us know what you need or would like to see from SLCPD. Email Slcpd@slcgov.com.

Lara Jones
